Description

by John Roberto & Mariette Martineau

8.5 X 11" -- 224 pages

Throughout the United States, parishes are embracing a vision of catechesis for the whole parish community. Guided by the General Directory for Catechesis (1997), new approaches and practices for lifelong catechesis are being created to turn this vision into reality.

After ten years of research, development, and direct work with parishes across North America, Generations of Faith is proving to be an effective approach to implementing the vision of lifelong, intergenerational catechesis for the whole parish community.

How does a parish develop lifelong faith formation? Generations of Faith Resource Manual addresses this question and many others. Specifically written to guide parish staff and faith formation leaders, it offers planning processes and practical tools for fashioning and implementing a lifelong curriculum and developing leaders for lifelong catechesis.
